Index Kappa Delta Pi Record, Volume 35

Authors and Articles

Adams, D., and M. Hamm. Science. The Truth Is Not Out There. 35(4): 176–79.

Allen, J. D. See Burns

Anderson, A. L. H., and A. B. Smith. Community Building with Parents. 35(4): 158–61.

Aoki, T. Rethinking Curriculum and Pedagogy (interview). 35(4): 180–81.

Barnes, M. Reform: Learning from Japan. 35(2): 76–78.

Barnes-Robinson, L. See Jeweler

Bernauer, J. A. Emerging Standards: Empowerment with Purpose. 35(2): 68–70, 74.

Berson, I. R. See Berson, M. J.

Berson, M. J., and I. R. Berson. Lessons of Columbine High. 35 (4): 173–75.

Burns, J. P., and J. D. Allen. Managing Inclusive Classrooms. 35(1): 28–30.

Carpenter, W. A. Review of Morris article. 35(1): 16; Violence: Reality Must Inform Theory. 35(1): 10–13.

Carpenter, W. A., and J. C. Laseter. When Your Principal Is a Wimp. 35(3): 132–35.

Conderman, G., and N. Nelson. A Better IDEA for Parents, Students, and Educators. 35(4): 170–72.

DeMoulin, D. F. Reading Empowers Self-Concept. 35(1): 31–33.

Dill, V. S. From Paducah to Pearl: Solutions (interview). 35(1): 36–37.

Drook, E. B. See Vollmer

Eisner, E. Arts Education for the 21st Century (interview). 35(3): 136–37.

Evans, J. G. Motivating Reluctant Learners. 35(2): 55–56.

Fabros, R. A. Designing Appropriate Parental Involvement. 35(4): 162–65.

Franse, S. R. Conversations with Children. 35(1): 24–26.

Haberman, M. The Anti-Learning Curriculum of Urban Schools, Part 2: The Solution. 35(2): 71–74.

Haggard, D. See Petch-Hogan

Hamm, M. See Adams.

Hansen, J. M. Teaching for Consequences. 35(1): 18–20.

Harned, P. J. See Vollmer

Henson, K. T. So You Want to Be Published? 35(2): 79–81.

Higgerson, M. L. Restoring Hope and Building Leaders. 35(1): 6–7.

Jeweler, S., and L. Barnes-Robinson. Curriculum from a Conflict-Resolution Perspective. 35(3): 112–14, 126.

Klein, M. F. Whose Standards? What Curriculum? 35(2): 60–62, 74.

Laseter, J. C. See Carpenter.

Michlowski, A. A. From Conflict to Congruence. 35(3): 108–11.

Morris, R. C. Conflict: Theory Must Inform Reality. 35(1): 14–18, 26; review of Carpenter article. 35(1): 12.

Nelson, N. See Conderman

Null, J. W. Teaching Technology a Lesson. 35(4): 150–51.

Pace, R., and A. Podesta. Teaching Peace with Dr. Seuss. 35(3): 118–21.

Paterson, F. R. A. Religious Denigration Challenges. 35(2): 82–85.

Peña, D. C. Mexican-American Family Involvement. 35(4): 166–69.

Petch-Hogan, B., and D. Haggard. The Inclusion Debate Continues. 35(3): 128–31.

Phelps, P. H. The Power of Partnerships. 35(4): 154–57.

Podesta, A. See Pace

Rader, J. Internet Safety Net: A Guide. 35(1): 34–35.

Sloane, M. W. Scoring Conflict-Resolution Goals. 35(1): 21–23.

Smith, A. B. See Anderson

Sweeny, B. Content Standards: Gate or Bridge? 35(2): 64–67.

Taylor, R. T. The Language of Cultural Diversity. 35(3): 104–05.

Vatalaro, M. Enhancing Learning and Interpersonal Relationships. 35(3): 115–17, 126.

Vollmer, M. L., E. B. Drook, and P. J. Harned. Partnering Character Education and Conflict Resolution. 35(3): 122–25.

Wolfe, D. Teaching: A Lifetime Commitment (interview). 35(2): 86–88.

Subjects

action research, 69–70

Adaptive Learning Environments Model (ALEM), 130

anger, and conflict, 15

Association for Persons with Severe Handicaps (APSH), 109

art education, 136–37

authoring articles, 79–81

books, charges of religious denigration, 84–85 brainstorming, in conflict resolution, 113

CARE (Conflict and Resolution Education) program, 123–24 character education, and conflict resolution, 122–25

Christian Right, religious denigration charges , 82–83 classroom management, consequences, 20; counseling conversations, 24–26; inclusive classrooms, 28–30; Internet safety, 34–35; maintaining rules, 18–19; need for empathy, 26; proactive vs. reactive, 18; rewarding behavior, 19–20. See also discipline collaboration, parent-teacher. See partnerships (parent-teacher) collaborative action research, 69–70

Columbine High School shootings, 173–75, 181 computers, Internet safety, 34–35; realistic view of as teaching tool, 150–51 conflict, 14–17, 26; and anger, 15; and stress, 14–15; awareness of, 123; definition of, 108–109; managing difficult people, 15–16; nature of, 115–16; parental distrust, 17; student response to, 116; transformational use of, 16–17; triggers, 114; types of, 109 conflict resolution, 21–23, 108–11; and character education, 122–25; CARE (Conflict and Resolution Education) program, 123–24; case study, 22–23; conflict-resolution tools, 113–14; curriculum programs, 110; implementing resolution programs, 116; incorporating into curriculum, 112–15, 117, 123–24, 126; methods of, 109; moral development of students, 7; objectives of, 109–10; practical solutions, 17, 26; steps of, 22; successful results of, 117, 126; teaching conflict resolution, 110–11; transforming conflict into congruence, 108–11; "What Do You See?" exercise, 121. See also peace education and peer-mediation in conflict resolution consequences, need for in classroom, 20 content standards, 64–67. See also curriculum standards counseling conversations, 24–26 cultural diversity, 104–05; multicultural perspective conflict resolution, 110; Mexican-American family involvement, 166–69; overcoming language barriers to immigrants, 104–05 curriculum, art education, 136–37; conflict-resolution programs, 110, 112–15, 126, 123–24; curriculum-as-planned/curriculum-as-lived metonymy, 180–81; Heartwood Ethics Curriculum for Elementary, 124; religious denigration, 82–85 curriculum standards, 64–69, 74; collaborative action research, 69–70; creating, 66–67, 73–74; Japanese educational system, 78; kinds of curriculum, 62, 74; national vs. state vs. local, 61–62, 65–66; proper use of, 67; reforming, 66; support of leadership, need for, 70–74; urban schools, counteracting anti-learning curriculum, 71–74 discipline, 110; counseling conversations, 24–26; spanking, 36–37; zero-tolerance policies, 11, 13. See also classroom management distrust, parental, 17 documenting problem behaviors, 17

Education for All Handicapped Children Act (EAHCA), 128–30 Educational Research Analysts (ERA), challenges to religious denigration, 82 emotionally disturbed students, 29–30. See also inclusion family-teacher partnerships, 155; Mexican-American families, 166–69. See also partnerships (teacher-parent) Full Inclusionist Movement (FIM), 128–30 government, establishment of curriculum standards, 61–62, 65–66; state Republican party platforms against religious denigration in schools, 83 guns, armed teachers, 10; protection of, by parents, 36. See also violence in schools Heartwood Ethics Curriculum for Elementary Children (HECEC), 124 holidays, alternatives to religious celebrations, 84; parental involvement, 169 I LIKE ME! reading program, 31–33 inclusion, 28–30, 128–31; Adaptive Learning Environments Model (ALEM), 130; affect on students/teachers, 130–31; Association for Persons with Severe Handicaps (APSH), 129; cases for/against, 128–30; dos and don'ts of successful collaborative IEP meetings, 172; Education for All Handicapped Children Act (EAHCA), 128–30; emotional disturbances, 29–30; Full Inclusionist Movement (FIM), 128; impact of reauthorization of IDEA, 170–72; Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA), 128; Japanese educational system, 77; learning disabilities, 28–29; mild mental retardation, 30; Regular Educational Initiative (REI), 128–30 individualized educational plans (IEPs), 170–72 Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA), 128–30; dos and don'ts of collaborative IEP meetings, 172; impact of reauthorization on parent-teacher partnerships, 170–72 Internet, realistic view of as teaching tool, 150–51; safety, 34–35. See also Web sites interviews, Aoki, T. Rethinking Curriculum and Pedagogy. 180–81; Dill, V. S. From Paducah to Pearl: Solutions. 35(1): 36–37; Eisner, E. Arts Education for the 21st Century. 35(3): 136–37; Wolfe, D. Teaching: A Lifetime Commitment. 35(2): 86–88 Japanese educational system, 76–78; curriculum, 78; government funding, 77; Quality Circle model, 135; reform goals, 78; relationship to major institutions, 77; school structures, 76–77; teachers, 77–78; U.S./Japan similarities, 78 language, getting proposals accepted, 134–35; overcoming language barriers to immigrants, 104–05, 167–68 learning disabled students, 28–29. See also inclusion listening, active listening in conflict resolution, 113; to parents, 17; to students, 175 mentally retarded students, 30. See also inclusion Mexican-American family involvement, 166–69 moral development of students, 6–7; teacher's role, 7; teaching personal responsibility, 20–22 motivating students, reluctant learners, 55–56; rewarding behavior, 19–20 National Association of Christian Educators/Citizens for Excellence in Education (NACE/CEE), challenges to religious denigration, 82–83; negotiation, in conflict resolution, 109 parents, benefit of reauthorization of IDEA, 171; goals for children's education, 158; parental distrust (children's), 17; parenting styles, 163; reaction to religious denigration, 84; role in education process, 161, 164–65; role in violence prevention, 36–37 partnerships (teacher-parent), attitude of teachers, 155–56, 168; available partnership resources, 156–57; barriers to parental involvement, 155–56; building effective partnerships, 154–61; impact of reauthorization of IDEA, 170–72; Mexican-American families, 166–69; role of parent in child's education, 161, 164–65; role of schools, 163–64; role of teachers, 155–56, 164 peace education, 110; using Dr. Seuss books, 118–21 pedagogy, curriculum-as-planned/curriculum-as-lived metonymy, 180–81. See also curriculum peer mediation in conflict resolution, 109, 117; successful results of, 117, 126 principals, ineffective, counteracting, 134–35; forming teacher groups, 135; getting proposals accepted, 134–35; identifying, 132–33; Japan's Quality Circle model, 135; responding to, 133–34 problem solving, in conflict resolution, 114 public schools, counteracting unemployment curriculum of urban schools, 71–74; religious denigration challenges, 82–85 publishing articles, 79–81 reading, effect on student's self-concept, 31–33 reforming curriculum standards, Japanese reform goals, 78, framework for, 66; urban schools, 73–74 Regular Educational Initiative (REI), 128–30 religion, moral development of students, 6–7 religious denigration; challenges to specific books, 84–85; charges of Christian Right, 82–83; holiday celebrations, 84; nonactivist conservative parents, 84; state Republican Party platforms, 83 reluctant learners, motivating, 55–56 research, collaborative action, 69–70 rewarding behavior, 19–20 role playing, in conflict resolution, 114 rules, classroom management, 18–19; developing, as part of conflict resolution, 23; teaching responsibility for knowledge of rules, 73; vs. teaching personal responsibility, 21 school violence. See violence in schools school-to-work curriculum, urban schools, 72–74 schools, role in teacher-parent partnerships, 163–64 scientific literacy, 176–79; critical thinking, 178–79; teaching science, 177–78, 179; pseudoscience, 176 self-centeredness of students, 6–7; importance of consequences, 20 self-confidence, reluctant learners, 55 self-image, effect of reading on student's self-concept, 31–33; image of "self and other" in education, 181 silence, need for in classroom management, 26 spanking, 36–37

standards. See content standards and curriculum standards states. See government stress, and conflict, 14–15 students, affect of inclusion, 130–31; importance of listening to students, 175; nature of conflicts, 115–16; overcoming language barriers to immigrants, 104–05; reluctant learners, motivating, 55–56; response to conflicts, 116; self-concept, effect of reading, 31–33; urban schools, need for a school-to-work curriculum, 72–73. See also inclusion teachers, affect of inclusion, 131; attitude towards parental involvement, 155–56, 168; benefit of reauthorization of IDEA, 171–72; building effective parent-teacher partnerships, 154–61, 164; character of, as example for students, 13; combating ineffective principals, 132–35; Japanese educational system, 77–78; pay, 87; qualities of good teachers, 86–87; role in moral development of students, 7; role in violence prevention, 37; value of private-sector jobs for teacher development, 72 teaching, conflict resolution, 110–11, peace education, 120–21; science, 177–78 technology, impact on student-teacher relationship, 151; use of, in conflict resolution, 114, 126 transformational use of conflict, 16–17 unemployment curriculum of urban schools, counteracting, 71–74 values. See moral development of students violence in schools, 10–13; patterns of behavior, 173–74; preventing, 36–37; purposes for schools, 12; reducing, 175; role of communities/schools, 174–75; school violence prevention Web sites, 174; taking control, 10–12; zero-tolerance policies, 11, 13
Web sites, Center on School, Family, and Community Partnership, 157; kid-safe sites, 35; National Coalition for Parent Involvement in Education, 156; National Parent Information Network, 156; school violence prevention sites, 174. See also Internet
"What Do You See?" exercise, 121
wimpy (ineffective) principals; counteracting, 134–35; forming teacher groups, 135; getting proposals accepted, 134–35; identifying, 132–33; Japan's Quality Circle model, 135; responding to, 133–34 World Wide Web. See Internet and Web sites writing articles for publication, 79–81 zero-tolerance policies, 11, 13